Our Mission

YWCA St. Paul is dedicated to eliminating racism, empowering women and promoting peace, justice, freedom and dignity for all.

Through programs and services in Housing & Supportive Services, Youth Development, Employment & Economic Development and Health & Wellness, YWCA St. Paul changes minds, bodies and lives.

Service Area

Collaborating with a broad east metro referral network, YWCA St. Paul anchors the Summit-University community and reaches out to its neighbors in Greater St. Paul and Ramsey County.
Strong. Determined. Tenacious.

These three words represent the spirit of so many. In fact, they accurately describe each of the 6,300 people who came to the YWCA looking to change their minds, bodies and lives last year. Whether they came for help overcoming homelessness, racial disparities, poverty or a sedentary lifestyle, at the YWCA they achieved incredible things.

Of the more than 2,200 people who participated in our social service and outreach initiatives, 92 percent were people of color and 98 percent were living in poverty. Some overcame homelessness; others earned new credentials. Many underwent a physical transformation and all began to realize their potential. Despite daunting odds, a challenging economy, an affordable housing crisis and an array of challenges and obstacles, they persevered and achieved ambitious goals.

In the following pages you’ll meet a mother who found the strength to overcome domestic violence and homelessness, and a young woman who is determined to help others learn and grow. You’ll see the tenacity of a man who battled unemployment and a woman determined to overcome chronic pain.

Each of them reminds us of the possibilities. If you are starting over with nothing; if people say kids like you don’t make it; if you are facing seemingly impossible odds—you can do it. You are strong, determined and tenacious. And at the YWCA, you’ll find the help you need to change your life.

With this report we celebrate not only achievement and tenacity, but also your support. Our members, donors, funders, volunteers and community partners help make every success possible. On behalf of those featured in this report and the thousands of stories still to come, thank you for making the extraordinary possible. Thank you for investing in the women, children and families we serve.

Sincerely,

Far away from friends and family, Irina spent seven years in an abusive marriage. “It was like living on a volcano,” she recalls, “never knowing when it would erupt.” With two children to think about, she knew she had to make a change.

Irina and her children sought refuge at a local domestic violence shelter. With just three dollars in her pocket and limited language skills, starting over seemed impossible. By enrolling in the YWCA’s Transitional Housing Program (THP), she was able to make a new start.

At the YWCA, Irina found not only a safe place to call home but also the ongoing support she needed to heal, build new skills and move forward. Over the course of two years, she set and achieved ambitious goals like learning English, becoming financially independent and learning to drive. It’s now been a year since she completed the program and Irina continues to thrive.

Like many single parents, Irina’s days are busy. She works as a personal care attendant, volunteers with a Russian language program and sings in her church choir. In the future she hopes to attend college, but for now she’s satisfied seeing her children healthy and happy. Thinking back to where they were just three years ago, she’s proud she was able to change their lives. “It was a very big risk to do something,” she says. “Now I realize it was a bigger risk to do nothing.”

housing & supportive services

Fighting Homelessness One Family at a Time

YWCA St. Paul combats homelessness by providing affordable housing and housing-related services for homeless women, children and families. More than simply providing a place to live, our programs and services empower families to stabilize their lives, build new skills, decrease their dependency on emergency services and keep their families united and safe.

Building New Lives for Homeless Women & Children
Transitional Housing Program (THP): Creates a path out of homelessness for single parents and their children. Families spend up to 24 months building skills and stabilizing their lives while living in one of the three YWCA Transitional Housing sites.

Positioning Families to Succeed
Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH): Combines safe, affordable housing and supportive services to help families who have experienced long-term homelessness to build stable, productive lives.

Helping Families Move Beyond Crisis
Rapid Re-housing (RRH): Reduces the length of emergency shelter stays by providing a jumpstart of supportive services and other resources that empower families to move out of shelters and into stable housing.

Last year 736 people—236 families—overcame homelessness at the YWCA.
Empowering At-Risk Youth to Reach Their Full Potential

Our Youth Development programs empower youth ages 8-24 to build bright futures. Within our walls, youth are safe and supported as they overcome challenges, build new skills, gain experiences and develop the habits and attitudes that will help them to achieve success in the classroom, workplace and community.

Promoting Positive Choices
Youth Achievers Program (YAP): Equips at-risk youth ages 8-14 with the skills, attitudes and experiences they will need to succeed and grow. After-school and summer programming focuses on life skills, academic enrichment and healthy minds/bodies.

Keeping Teens in School and Focused on the Future
IMPACT: Prepares at-risk youth ages 15-24 for post-secondary education, training and work. Activities focus on expanding aspirations, building academic skills, fostering personal/social responsibility and improving work readiness.

Helping Youth Grow Strong, Fit & Healthy
Youth in Motion (YIM): Combats the growing problem of childhood obesity and Type 2 diabetes by helping youth ages 11-18 to build active, healthy habits. Youth meet regularly for fun classes and activities led by fitness professionals. The program is administered by the Health & Fitness Center and serves youth enrolled in YAP and IMPACT.

Providing Program Leadership
YWCA St. Paul partners with schools and community organizations to facilitate services for youth and to provide program leadership. 2014 projects included an Evening Learning Center and a summer fitness challenge.

Last year 631 young people were empowered to reach their full potential.
When Shay was 10 she witnessed the murder of her mother, father and sister. Reeling from the trauma and grieving the loss of her family, she went to live with a relative. The next few years were challenging and Shay felt herself getting off-track.

“I guess you could say I went out of control,” she remembers. “I started sneaking out of the house. I was going to parties. I was drinking. It was just a really bad situation.” Struggling to find her footing, she spent several years moving between group homes and foster care.

With encouragement from her social worker, Shay came to the YWCA and enrolled in the IMPACT Program. Through IMPACT, she’s gained paid work experience and so much more. “I’ve met awesome people here,” Shay says. “The YW has given me a lot of opportunities to learn and grow.”

Working as a program aide in the YWCA Youth Achievers Program (YAP) Shay discovered a passion for youth work. Whether assisting with homework, providing encouragement when someone is having a rough day or helping kids to try new things, Shay loves her work and thinks it may be her calling. “I want to help youth grow up and get the help they need,” she explains.

Having attended 10 schools over the course of 12 years, Shay is proud to have graduated from high school on-time. She recently completed her first year of college, and is looking forward to discovering what’s next. “I was stuck in misery for a long time,” she says. “Now I’m out of it and I’m loving my life.”

For four years, Curtis worked at a local meat packing plant. The shifts were grueling and conditions difficult, but it was steady work. “Making $15 an hour, I was struggling to make ends meet,” he recalls.

When the plant started to cut their production schedule, bills began to stack up. Already stretched thin, the reduced hours were devastating for his family’s finances. They did their best to get by, and struggled to hang on when temporary layoffs were announced. Weeks later, Curtis learned the layoffs were permanent—the plant would never reopen.

Determined to find a better opportunity, Curtis enrolled in the YWCA’s Commercial Driver’s License (CDL) Training Program. While earning his CDL, he was also learning about how to stand out during the interview process and how to succeed in the workplace.

With his eyes on the prize, Curtis worked hard to earn his credentials and made his job search a top priority. Through networking, he connected with a local construction company who promised a job once he earned his license. “Having my CDL helped me get my foot in the door,” he says.

Today Curtis is employed full-time with a local construction company. He’s now earning more than twice what he made packing meat and is thrilled to have permanent, fulltime work. “At the YWCA I learned it’s not who you are or where you’ve been,” he says. “It’s where you want to go.”

Last year 4,097 people grew strong in body and mind.
Frankie is a lap swimmer. It’s not always easy, but for 45 years the sidestroke has been her therapy. “I swim because it’s something that keeps me healthy,” she explains. “I swim, because as a result of spinal surgery, it’s something I both need and love to do.”

As a teen, Frankie was injured in a car accident. The trauma to her back resulted in severe scoliosis, and when she was 16 she had surgery to correct the curvature of her spine. Frankie learned to swim in her twenties and got started with the sidestroke on the advice of a physical therapist. “She told me I should be swimming on my right side to compensate for my curvature,” Frankie says. “So that’s what I’ve been doing all these years.”

Despite her good health and active lifestyle, over the past decade, Frankie battled crippling sciatic pain. When conservative treatments failed, the pain became unbearable and she was sidelined from swimming. “My life was out of balance without swimming,” she remembers. “I was worried that I’d never be able to get back to it.”

Another surgery brought relief, and after nearly a year away, Frankie returned to the pool. It took some work to regain her strength and stamina, but today Frankie is back to swimming at least three days a week. “It’s not magic,” she says. “You work and you see the results. If I can do it … anyone can.”
